

Other matters

Here you will find mainly essays inspired by meditations on a variety of topics that I find important, but which really should not be forced into any of the other sections of this site. Some have been published, others are exclusive to this site. I will occasionally put more of these articles here as time permits. As always, your thoughts are welcome. Just click on the "Comment" link alongside any of these pieces.